2 ENGAGE

Make your voice heard.

Vote in every election.

Local and state elections can have an enormous impact on your family and community. Know what's on your ballot and make a plan to vote.

Contact your elected officials.

Call, email or meet with your representatives. Sign up for FPA Action Alerts to know when your voice is needed.

Show up.

Attend a school board meeting, city council meeting, legislative hearing or other public meeting when important decisions affecting families are being made.

Speak up.

Share trustworthy information, submit testimony, write a letter to the editor or respectfully make your voice heard.

Choose an issue and get involved.

You don't have to do everything. Find an issue you care deeply about and look for a meaningful way to make a difference.

3 MULTIPLY

Your impact doesn't have to stop with you.

Bring someone with you.

Invite a friend, family or neighbor to vote, attend a meeting or take action alongside you.

Share what you know.

Help others understand what's happening and show them a simple way to get involved.

Step into leadership.

Volunteer, help a pro-family candidate or consider serving in public office yourself.

Invest in the work.

Support Family Policy Alliance and help advance pro-family policies and biblical values.
